

BAKING ORGANIZATION FOR STOCK EXCHANGE

Advisability of Members Organizing Institution of Their Own Is Discussed.

PROPOSITION NOT NEW ONE

Unless Some Remedy Is Found, It Will Be Extremely Difficult for Commission Houses in Future to Handle Business With Ease.

BY BROADWAY WALL.
NEW YORK, October 1.—In August, 1914, a conference of bankers was held at the bank of the Manhattan Company to discuss the crisis brought about by the war of 1912. Just 100 years ago a committee of seven was appointed to wait on the members of the stock exchange to discuss the crisis brought about by the war of 1912. This century-old idea is brought to the attention of the public by the release of a copy of the bankers' minutes.

Stockbrokers banking interests in the present crisis have been handled by a committee of seven. In the past two weeks the advisability of the members of the stock exchange forming a banking organization of their own has been seriously discussed.

The proposition is not a new one, but for various reasons the matter has not hitherto been threshed out to a conclusion. The members of the stock exchange are continually placing fresh restrictions upon the certification of stockholders' accounts and unless some remedy is found it will be extremely difficult for commission houses in the future to handle business with ease without a much-augmented capital.

Some members believe a banking connection with the stock exchange clearing-house could be formed by each of the 1,100 member firms contributing a small sum, say one to $10,000 of the capital stock as a starter. This would enable members to clear their own differences through their own institution, and not materially interfere with the loans at the clearing-house with trust companies or other banks.

The subject is important and the time appears to be ripe for the adoption of new methods that will facilitate the daily settlement of balances, and at the same time give the stock exchange members direct representation in banking circles.

The State revenue has been hard hit by the closing down of the exchanges. Advances from Albany say the September stock transfer tax will be about $1,000,000, against $2,400,000 in July. Dealings were almost at a standstill last day. Through the clearing-house at the closing prices of July 29.

Trading in stock through the special committee of five is reported to be increasing. This market will no doubt broaden quickly when money rates relax.

The demand for bonds is good at prices two or three points under the market. Foreign exchange reacted further on the gold shipment to Canada, but prices hardened in the afternoon.
